12                 Plaintiff,

14                 PHOENIX LAW, PC, a California corporation
15                  law firm, and credit repair organization,

16                 Defendant.

18                  STATUS REPORT

19                  COMES NOW the Plaintiff, by and through his attorney, Peter Schneider of Northwest
20                  Debt Resolution, LLC, and provides this Court a status report on the case pursuant to the 8-15-
21                  23 minute order issued by this Court (ECF# 6).

22                  STATUS REPORT

23                  To date the Plaintiff has obtain and order of default against the Defendant in this matter
24                  (ECF# 5). Defendant Phoenix Law, PC, was part of an ongoing fraudulent transfer of assets
25                  investigation in the Bankruptcy of Litigation Practice Group, PC (Bankruptcy Court of Central 26

1 California #8:23-bk-10571). So to was it a party to an adversarial proceeding by the trustee of 2 that bankruptcy, Richard A. Marshack (see Marshack v. Diab et al #8:23-ap-01046).

3 During the last two months, Plaintiff's counsel had been monitoring these cases to 4 divine as to whether it was appropriate to take action in this case. Out of an abundance of 5 caution he did not.

6 However, it now appears that on 8-7-23 the assets of Litigation Practice Group,
7 including but not limited to the fraudulently transferred assets sold to Phoenix Law, PC, were 8 legally sold to a third party as a part of the sale of the bankruptcy estate (Bankruptcy Court of 9 Central California #8:23-bk-10571, ECF# 365).

10 The order appears to strip any liability incurred by Phoenix Law, resulting in the third
11 party receiving "clean" assets. The liability for its illegal conduct remains with Phoenix Law.

12 As a result, Plaintiff intends to file a motion for default judgment shortly. Plaintiff
13 apologizes to the Court for the delay. The bankruptcy of Litigation Practice Group has been a 14 contentious and confusing ordeal (over 400 docket entries in the last two months).
